JOB SUMMARY

AerCap Materials Inc. has an immediate opening for an Engine Asset Manager. This role will report directly to the Director Engine Management and will participate in the procurement, marketing, and sales for identified engine types and specific engine components. Consideration for location of Memphis, TN or London.

AerCap Materials is a division of AerCap and is a premier distributor of airframe and engine components available for purchase or lease. AerCap Materials provides comprehensive solutions for aircraft supply chains. With nearly 50 years of leading aftermarket experience and among the largest inventories to support mid-life and new-generation aircraft, AerCap Materials is the proven provider of full life cycle and supply chain solutions. The scale, experience and accessibility of our global team provides ready access to support the aviation industry.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS

- Onboard, develop, and maintain customers/relationships to meet sales targets.
- Maintain all customer quote and order data into the inventory system.
- Evaluate and identify most appropriate sales channels in support of product strategy; monitor and adjust as necessary based on changing market demands.
- Research product line to maximize value based on time/cycle limitations, interchangeability, mod status, AD's, applicability, OEM and MRO usage and demand.
- Participate in engine evaluations, to include an LLP review and technical analysis in support of forecasting engine dismantlement sales.
- Monitor dismantlement progress with identified engine dismantlement facilities – to include providing harvest list of parts to be received from engine dismantlement and making scrap decisions as necessary to ensure complete reconciliation of dismantled engines.
- Identify engine parts to route for speculative repair. Direct Sourcing and Repairs Management on specific MROs and Engine shops, ensuring cost effectiveness throughout the repair cycle.
- Work with Records department to ensure adequate BTB LLP data is compiled. Work with onsite and third-party records managements to identify and close any potential records gaps.
- Measure and report on sales activity for engine acquisitions against performance goals. Review book value to forecast as part of periodic financial review and plan accordingly to mitigate value loss

- Capture and maintain ongoing market intelligence to support product decisions. Understand and leverage market landscape and data, specifically competitor inventory levels and availability as well as internal inventory pipeline and the demand from potential customers.
- Perform other duties and projects as needed.
